

DEMOCRATS! BRING OUT

JAMES K. POLK, of Tennessee, is President elect of these United States.

Readers, one and all, we ask you to read the above short, simple sentence. Is it not decidedly the best editorial we have ever written for you? Can it over and over again. Turn it which way you will: read it backwards and forwards,—we are much mistaken if it will not be pronounced by you, one of the shortest, one of the most agreeable and one of the pithiest editorials which has emanated from the press during the last twelve months.

In the last seven or eight numbers, (the short time during which we have had the pleasure of addressing you through the columns of the Journal) we have had hoisted at our mast head the name of the illustrious Democrat—James K. Polk, of Tennessee, as our candidate FOR the office of President of these United States: in this number we have the inexpressible pleasure of stating to you that he is no longer before you in the capacity of a candidate—that the grand inquest of the people of America has pronounced him in deed and in fact, the President elect for the next four years. From our hearts we congratulate you in common with the whole Democracy of this country, on the advent of this glorious event. Since the name of James K. Polk was first placed before the American people in May last, every effort has been made by the Federal papers and the Federal orators to slander and vilify his name. The vials of abuse have been poured unceasingly on his head. Yet, still it is gratifying to think that the people—the Democracy of our country, have had enough of intelligence and enough of firmness to rise up in their majesty and put the seal of utter condemnation upon the foul, base slanders which have been perpetrated against themselves and their candidate. Yes, in 1840 the people of this country were most foully and grossly deceived by the Harpingtons of that day; now they have risen to their might, and they have told the sons of 1844, "You have once deceived us—you are unworthy of trust or confidence; we therefore condemn you and your ambitious and timeserving leader to that oblivious forgetfulness from which nothing but our too easy credulity and your false and deceptive promises could ever have dragged you."

Again, Democrats of the good Old North State, we congratulate you upon the glorious triumph which the people of this free country have achieved over monopolies and restrictions—we congratulate you upon the glorious victory which the lovers of our constitution, as it is, have achieved over those unruly spirits who were willing to sacrifice any and every of its features on the shrine of their unholy ambition!—Again we congratulate you on the election of James K. Polk of Tennessee, as a man! We congratulate you, that you have elevated to the Presidential chair, a statesman, whose moral and intellectual endowments so eminently qualify him to discharge its honorable and responsible duties, in a manner worthy the successor of a Jefferson and a Jackson.

Finally we congratulate you, that in a conflict in which the ablest men of the country on both sides have taken such an active part, & which was conducted in so bitter and unscrupulous a manner by your Federal opponents, your principles, more dear to you than any man or any set of men, however distinguished they may be, have been triumphantly, and more than triumphantly sustained by the voice of the people of this Union.

WHO IS JE-EMES K. POLK?

We wonder if the redoubtable young champions of coonery, who used so often to ask in the tremendous and overwhelming philippics which they levelled at the unfortunate head of the distinguished man, whose name heads this paragraph, with such a peculiar, euphonious stress of the voice, upon the word James, "who is Je-emmes K. Polk?" don't feel a little sheepish just about this particular juncture. We told them some time ago, when they used to ask, "who is Je-emmes K. Polk?" that if they would wait a little, say till November, that the people would give them a satisfactory answer to this question! But, no! They thought they could answer it perfectly to their own satisfaction, without the people saying any thing about it. At it they would go; "Gentlemen, he's a man of straw, he's nobody, &c., &c." until in their own estimation, they had quite demolished "little Jeemmy." But lo and behold, these plaguey foolish people, notwithstanding all the enlightenment which they received at the hands of these smart Young Coons, were just stiff-necked enough to answer, he's just the sort of man we want for President.

WHO IS JE-EMES K. POLK?

The Legislature of this State will meet in Raleigh on next Monday. We shall endeavor to keep our readers fully advised of its proceedings.

LOUIS D. HENRY.
The attack made upon this gentleman's character in the last "Chronicle," shall be properly noticed in our next. We have only returned to town and have not had time to enquire into the particulars of the matter.

Hear the voice of Mr. Polk's native county.
Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, where Mr. Polk was born, gave in August four hundred and thirty-four majority to Michael Hoke, the "Democratic" candidate for Governor; she now gives James K. Polk the smaller majority of two hundred and ninety-two. What does that mean but that she knows he is totally unfit for the Presidency.

Now compare the majority (293) which Mr. Polk received in Mecklenburg, the county in which he was born, with that which Mr. Clay received in his native county, Hanover, Va., which was only 66, and then Mr. Chronicle, let us see how the account stands.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.
The full returns from our State have not yet come to hand. Their complexion however, since our last number, has materially changed. Then we had good reason to hope that the Democracy of the good old North State would emerge in triumph from the struggle. Now we must confess that things so far as North Carolina is concerned, do not wear so bright an aspect. From the returns already received, we are now of the opinion that the State has gone for Clay by a slightly increased majority—say by 3,500. In our next we hope to be able to give all the returns. The returns given are not official, and of course we cannot vouch for their being entirely correct. They may possibly vary.

"Americans shan't rule us."—This was the inscription on a banner borne in a Locofoco procession which paraded the streets of New York a few days before the election there.

We pronounce the above a foul slander, and we give below the proof of our assertion.

From the New York Dollar Weekly.

Fifty Dollars Reward.
The Courier and Enquirer has stated, in its yesterday's issue, that a large banner was carried in the Democratic procession of Friday night, on which was inscribed "Americans shan't rule us." The statement is an infamous falsehood. A little rag with words similar to the above, it was said, was thrust into the procession, but promptly thrust out. The Courier gives the following list of names as those who saw it:

C. L. Norton, 448 Broome street,
W. B. Low, 8 Jay street,
Edward Weyland, 12 Varick street,
Thomas Cooper, 31 Maiden lane,
Wm. H. Chambers, 527 Greenwich street,
E. W. Lozier, 250 Spring street,
Robert Brown, 165 West Broadway,
John J. Drake, 150 Franklin street.

Now if these men—provided they are respectable citizens, for we do not know them—shall make oath to the fact, and the Courier says they are willing, the editor of this paper not only agrees to pay promptly fifty dollars reward, but to issue an extra to-day announcing the fact.

Since writing the above, we are authorized to say that Mr. W. B. Low, No. 8 Jay street, denies having given authority to use his name. He is a whig, but never saw anything of the sort. Ald. Shaler publishes the following note, in an evening paper.

Dear Sir: Please pronounce the statement made in a slanderous whig paper of Saturday morning that the Democrats of the Sixth Ward displayed in the procession of Friday night, a banner bearing these words—"Americans shan't rule us"—a lie of the blackest cast! Our leading banner bore these words, under an American Eagle—"Fostered under thy wings, we die in thy defence."

Yours truly, WM. SHALER.

Outragious conduct.—We are informed, and in a way to convince us of the truth of the statement, that one of the Locofoco leaders of Duplin county, was at the polls in Kennamsville on election day, and in the most violent manner denounced every man who should attempt to vote the Whig ticket as a "scoundrel," at the same time swearing that no such ticket should go into the ballot-box, or be counted off, if put in. It will be observed that the Whig vote of Duplin fell off from August, and it is probable that the circumstance here detailed will account for it.

We clip the above from the Chronicle of last Wednesday. We know not from whom the Chronicle derived its information; but this much we feel confident of, that there is not an influential Democrat in North Carolina, who would degrade his party, or his own personal character so much as to make use of such language as stated by the Editor of the Chronicle.

Perhaps Mr. Chronicle the decrease of the votes of the Federalists in the county of Duplin, may be accounted for in the list of their Candidates names upon them, but "True Republican" substituted in their stead. The Whigs of Duplin, becoming way. There were tickets issued from the Office of the Chronicle, which had neither aware of a fraud being practised upon them, many of them, we have good grounds for so saying, avowed they would not vote such a ticket.

(Qr.) Did not the Whigs have two different tickets? or ticket-headed differently? We think they did; and doubtless, in this way, succeeded in increasing their vote in New Hanover county to some extent.

Tennessee.

A very intelligent gentleman direct from Tennessee, says the Louisville Democrat, informs us that the changes in favor of Polk and Dallas have been very numerous in all parts of the State, except in the region of his abode. The reason he assigns for there having been no changes there is, that the entire population are Democrats: save four, and one of them is a neutral.

Rooms to let.—We understand that the Clay Club Room, so recently the scene of many a high wrought flight of coon oratory, is to be rented out on the balance of season. We don't know this to be a fact, but think it very probable under the circumstances.

INDIANA AND LOUISIANA.

Partial returns have only yet been received from these two States, but they are of such a nature as to warrant us in the belief, that they have cast their Electoral votes for Polk and Dallas.

Hon. John C. Calhoun and family passed through this place on Saturday last, on their way to Washington City.

The Verdict of the Farmers on the Tariff as it is.

One of the great issues on which the whigs placed the contest between the two parties, was the maintenance of the present partial and prohibitory tariff. The Boston Courier of Wednesday, which lies before us, says:

"Our hopes rest on New York. We are unwilling yet to believe that the intelligent people of that great State have become so gossiped in the doctrines of free trade, as to give their votes for Mr. Polk."

The Boston journal is mistaken. The people of New York are, as it will have seen before this, so well learned in the doctrines of free trade as to give Mr. Polk a very fair majority.

Looking over the majorities in the several counties, it is apparent enough that the farmers are not pleased with the whig tariff of 1842. In the purely agricultural counties the democratic ticket has won its greatest majorities, or shaken most effectually the whig strength. Take, as examples the prodigious majority in St. Lawrence county, the almost unlooked for change in Jefferson county, the immense falling off in the whig vote throughout the whole of the grain-growing and grazing counties.

On the other hand, in those counties where the lords of the loom have lavished their money, and issued their mandates to their work-men—in Dutchess, Ulster, Rensselaer, Saratoga and Oneida—the whigs have obtained the few successes of which they have to boast.

The manufacturers, with their money and their influence as employers, are on one side; the farmers, instructed by experience and their own shrewd reflection, are on the other. We think we may fairly draw the inference that the tariff is as unpopular among the latter class as it is a favorite with the former.—N. Y. E. Post.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 12.

The Result is Sure and Glorious!

Democracy Triumphant.

AND

JAMES K. POLK, President Elect.

The mails of yesterday removed all doubt. The Empire State has given Polk and Dallas a majority of thousands—and, with the exception of North Carolina, which too shows a decided turning back to the right, the whole South is united for "Free Trade, Low Duties, No Debt, Separation from Banks, Economy, Retrenchment, and a strict adherence to the Constitution." We have a right now to expect equal laws—and safety to the civilization of the South—Abolition is signally defeated—and the mercenary Southern treason which wooed its foul prostration, is condignly chastised in the utter prostration of its selfish aspirations. Let every disinterested lover of his own State, and of the Union as our fathers made it, REJOICE! for the redemption of the Constitution is at hand!

While we are writing, there is an immense gathering of the people at the City Hall, (Hon. KER BOYCE in the Chair, J. CHESTERBROUGH and W. A. HAYNE, Esq., Secretaries,) for the purpose of making arrangements to celebrate the great triumph of the Democratic Republican party.—The meeting is one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in this city. It has been addressed by several distinguished speakers, and resolutions have been passed to have a torch-light procession and other demonstrations of joy on to-morrow evening.

From the immense concourse of this almost spontaneous meeting, and the spirit which prevails, we anticipate the most brilliant spectacle ever exhibited in our usually quiet city.—Mercury.

From the Public Ledger, Nov. 9.

Tremendous Excitement—Democratic Procession and Speech of Mr. Dallas.

The excitement in our city last evening, consequent upon the returns from New York and North Carolina, was intense. Chesnut street was crowded, and on every side could be heard the exulting cheers of the successful party, and the songs of victory which made the air resound. At an early hour the Democratic reading-room, at the corner of Eighth and Chesnut streets, was thronged, and the streets were filled by a dense mass of human beings, who made the welkin ring with their shouts, cheers, songs and crowing. After some speeches from several persons, lanterns were lit, bearing various inscriptions and mottoes, and the crowd formed into procession and marched to the residence of the Hon. Geo. M. Dallas. Here they halted and Mr. Dallas answered their loud calls by coming to the door way and delivering them a speech, which was received with the most enthusiastic cheers. Mr. Dallas dwelt upon the subject of the late victory, the means by which it was achieved, the obstacles with which they had to contend, and the men in each section of the Union who had labored in the work.

He spoke particularly of the confinement of Thomas W. Dorris, in the Rhode Island prison, and the sympathy felt for him by the great body of the American people, and he prophesied that the time was not far distant when he would be liberated and raised to the highest honors for his fearless advocacy of the rights of mankind and the sufferings he had endured in behalf of the people.

There was one portion of Mr. Dallas' remarks which was well-timed, and was well received by the people present. He insisted strongly upon the necessity of treating their adversaries with the utmost kindness, and of making no harsh or uncourteous manifestations. It was, he said, the duty of Democrats to be magnanimous, and by no means to exult over a vanquished opponent, or to feel or exhibit any kindness towards our fellow-citizens, because of a difference of political opinion. It was the cause, he said, and not the men who had triumphed, and Democrats ought now endeavor to soften all asperities, and while rejoicing over their success, to be tender of the feelings of their opponents. These remarks made a decided impression upon his hearers, and after he had concluded, he was saluted with tremendous cheering, and the crowd then filed off in procession.

After passing through various parts of the city, they marched to the headquarters & were dismissed. Several houses were illuminated, as also was the office of the "Keystone," in Dock street, near Third. Up to a late hour the city was alive with excitement, and the streets resounded with shouts, songs, and all the various demonstrations of triumph and rejoicing.

From the Young Hickory.

THE ELECTIONS.

The returns still continue to come in favorably for the success of our party. Polk and Dallas, Texas and Oregon, have doubtless already been elected, and all we are waiting for is the authority from the official returns to announce it. We have heard sufficiently from New York to render that State very certain. The gains in North Carolina are so considerable, that there is a very fair probability that we shall carry that State also. Thus it is, that the spirit of truth and justice, the Democratic spirit of the people, has gone sweeping over the land, prostrating and scattering all the devices and contrivances of the Whig adversaries, to obstruct and defeat its success. This terrible blow to Whig hopes is operating variously on different members and sections of that unscrupulous party. The New York Courier and Enquirer, the great sponsor in baptism, whenever a new name is to be conferred—has already announced that they are to rally henceforth under the name of "Republican Americans." Unfortunate party! It has already been discredited and defeated under a dozen names. Beaten now under its title of Democratic Whigs, like a detected felon, it immediately adopts a new alias, and starts again in its pursuit of plunder and power. But, thanks to the sleepless vigilance of the true Democracy, with the invincible force of truth, as with the spear of ITHURIEL, they will again touch the arch enemy in his new disguise, expose his true character, and defeat his designs. Truth wears no disguises—falsehood exhibits itself in ten thousand varying forms.

Others of the Whigs, we learn, have determined to dispose of their possessions here, retire to Europe, and spend the period of Col. Polk's Presidency, in the dominions of royalty. That is just as it should be. Where the heart has its sympathies and preferences, there should it also have its abode.

The Election—Incidents in New York.

From the Herald.

We give a correct and accurate report of a discussion which took place between a genuine Pallander and a "Native," in the 2d district of the Sixth Ward, where a large crowd were collected, both Natives, Whigs and Democrats, who enjoyed the scene with admirable temper, and cheered the disputants as they proceeded: Pat was dressed in a rough, threadbare jacket, which once might have been green, and which bore innumerable marks of brick and mortar, with the arms well patched up. His potato physiognomy proclaimed him a genuine specimen of the soil of Connaught, with all the characteristics of its peasantry—broad, comic humor, shrewdness, and quick-wittedness—and he was supplied with a perfect armory of those weapons which are usually found most effective in the "wordy warfare," which distinguishes the fair denizens of the fish market. When our reporter reached, he found the disputants in the midst of the discussion:

Native.—What claim have you to vote for a Chief Magistrate of our country, you who have come here only on yesterday, perhaps, and have just emerged from the Alms House?

Patrick.—A better right than you have, friend—who the devil are you, or where did you grow?

Native.—This is my native land, my lad, I was born here, and my father fought and bled under this flag—(pointing to the American flag.)

Patrick.—Who the devil was ye'r mother? I'd be glad to know? I suppose she was a boy of the Dorans. (Roars of laughter.)

Native.—My mother was born in Roscommon, Ireland; and my father was an Englishman.

Patrick.—Well, 'pon my soul, my fine Argyle on one side of ye's, all events must be decent—for if your mother was an Irish woman, you may be sure that you was born decent any how. (tremendous laughter and cheers.) but as to ye's father avic: that party looking "native," (pointing to a colored man, who stood in the midst of the crowd) would sooner fight for the "Merican Agle."

Native.—The American flag shall wave triumphant over foreign influence and foreigners—and we shall protect the industry of the country. When ye come here we will give ye employment, but we don't want you to interfere with our rights as citizens of this free country.

Patrick.—Wishu, de hurph, and dheil a Frouncha—Johnny Bull—and its you thats there.—When General Cornwallader and his runaway Cromwellians—with your father, perhaps, or your Grandfather amongst them, came to rob the people of this country of their liberty; poor Jim Burn, was among the first of the Mericans to thrash them off the plains of Saratago; Mungwernery, gave ye a shlap of the shillah at Quebec—and ye pitched ye's into the sea at New Orleans, with the brave General Jackson at our head.

Native.—I was born on this soil, and have a birth-right which entitles me to every privilege under the constitution. We must stop this foreign flood of emigrants, and teach them that they must not be duped by designing politicians, and made tools of.

Patrick.—As well said as if ye were at home, at Saffron Hill or Bloomsbury among the John Bulls. If ye show ye'r nose at Texas or Mexico, we'll give sal for yer porridge.

Death of Gov. Runnels.—The Brandon (Mississippi) Advocate says that Gen. H. G. Runnels, formerly Governor of this State, who emigrated to Texas about two years since, had met a violent death. Report says he was assassinated by a band of lawless rascals who waylaid and shot him. It is said that Runnels, and some other respectable gentlemen, were sent by the civil authority to arrest a parcel of men who were committing acts of violence under the authority of "Lynch," or, as they styled themselves, "Regulators."

They, or a part of them, were secured and lodged in jail, and as Runnels and his associates of law and order, were returning home, they were fired on, and several others besides himself killed. It was hoped that this report would prove unfounded.

Interesting Discovery.—The theatre of the Ancient city of Parua has been discovered at a considerable depth in the earth, and in a remarkable state of preservation. The government has ordered researches to be made, and has purchased several houses which stand in the way of the operation.

General Jackson's Reply to Mr. Adams.—General Jackson, in a letter published in the Nashville Union, denies the accuracy of the statements made by Mr. Adams in his recent speech at Boston.

He says, "I pledge my countrymen as soon as I can obtain the papers not now in my possession, referred to in the letter to Mr. Brown, to prove not only that Mr. Adams has no cause of complaint against me, but that his veracity, like his diplomacy, cannot be put to rest by his 'diary.'"

DEMOCRATIC MEETING IN WASHINGTON.

A meeting of the Democrats was held in the town of Washington, N. C., on the night of the 22d of November, for the purpose of expressing their disapprobation of a certain Secret Circular, issued by the Central Whig Committee, and addressed to the faithful of the Whig party in North Carolina. The meeting was called to order by appointing George Houston, Chairman; and Sylvester T. Brown, Secretary.

After the Chairman, in a few eloquent and pertinent remarks, had stated the object and design of the meeting, Wm. B. Rodman was called on, and addressed the meeting in his usual effective and felicitous style. His vindication of the noble county of Edgecombe, from the base calumnies and contemptible slurs made against her, was particularly happy; and elicited the most enthusiastic applause: never was vindication more complete, and let Edgecombe long cherish the name of Wm. B. Rodman, as an able and eloquent defender of her fame and integrity.

Matthew Shaw, Esq., of Wake, then addressed the audience in a short, but eloquent and amusing speech. After Mr. Shaw had concluded, on motion of Wm. Ellison, Esq., a committee of five gentlemen were appointed by the chair to prepare a preamble and resolutions for the adoption of the meeting. The following gentlemen were selected by the Chairman as a committee for that purpose, viz: Henry S. Clark, Matthew Shaw, Richard Cogdell and William B. Rodman, Esqs. After retiring for a few moments, the committee returned and reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted by the meeting.

The portion of the Democracy here assembled, have seen with deep regret and mortification, a publication under the names of the Central Whig Committee of North Carolina, purporting to be a Confidential Circular addressed to the faithful of the Whig party in the State. In that circular the democracy of the county is spoken of, as having already been guilty of forgeries; are held up as capable and ready to commit still more infamous and flagitious crimes in order to ensure success to their party, in the coming Presidential election, and as plotting a dissolution of the Union of these States, if Texas should be admitted into the confederacy. It may perhaps be conceded, that nothing contributes more to the purity of a free Government, than a well regulated party spirit, which without degenerating into faction or demagoguism, seeking only to have its own peculiar principles infused in the administration of the government. It is, for this reason, that the warmth and zeal of party spirit may very well excuse inconsiderable departures from that propriety of deportment which should govern the conduct of men, towards his fellow-men. But when men who stand high in the community in which they live—who pride themselves upon being the embodiment of all that is noble and chivalrous; do so far lose sight of their own self respect; do so far forget what, in common decency, is due to their own neighbors and relations, as to accuse them of having committed the most infamous acts; and as yet capable, may, ready to commit others still more enormous and infamous, if success shall demand it. When such men are capable of such conduct, it is enough to make the patriot despair of the longer continuance of the Republic. For the same infatuated spirit, which could accuse honest men (whose only crime is a difference of political opinion) of offences, which only the basest and most degraded human beings commit, would, upon the slightest pretext, seize upon the sword and the bayonet, and bury them in the bosoms of their countrymen and neighbors; seize upon the slightest pretext and apply it, with demonic fury, to their habitations and possessions.

We, therefore, desire for ourselves as well as in the name of the democratic party, to denounce the spirit, which could dictate and sanction such sentiments as that circular contains; and to caution the more moderate of our political opponents, how in a moment of party zeal, they trust (by their votes) the reins of the government of a free people into the hands of men, who discover in advance such a ruthless and proscription determination.

Resolved, That, if we know ourselves and our hearts, our purposes are patriotic, and we shall be slow to deny to the great body of our political opponents, the like patriotism and honesty.

Resolved, That the accusation against the democratic party of having already committed deliberate forgeries, and having perpetrated wilful falsehoods, is in the opinion of this meeting false, and wickedly and maliciously false.

Resolved, That the allegation, made by the committee of a readiness, on the part of the Democracy of the country, to commit other crimes, if success shall seem to require it, has nothing to support; and it is to be feared, but the suggestions of hearts themselves determined already to do that which they are so ready to charge upon others.

Resolved, That we cheer on the Democracy of Edgecombe, amidst the savage fire of their enemies, and that we have an abiding confidence in their honesty as men, and as politicians.

Resolved, That we deprecate all threats of revolution, for such causes, and profess our belief in the stability of our institutions, notwithstanding all threats of that nature from those who profess to be exclusively the friends of Law and Order.

After the resolutions were read and adopted, Henry S. Clark, Esq., was called on, and addressed the meeting at some length, on the issues which mainly divide the two great parties of the country. The audience were prepared (from the reputation of Mr. Clark as a public speaker) for an intellectual treat; but his effort upon this occasion was truly brilliant, particularly his remarks on the subject of annexing Texas to this country. After Mr. Clark had concluded, on motion of Francis J. Day, Esq., it was Resolved, That the North Carolina Standard, Democratic Signal, Tarboro' Press and Wilmington Journal be requested to publish the proceedings of the meeting.

On motion of Henry S. Clark, Esq., the meeting then adjourned, sine die.

SYLVESTER T. BROWN, Sec'y.

Outstripping the Wind.—The Philadelphia Sun of yesterday says: "The locomotive with the express, which arrived in this city yesterday morning at 9 1-2 o'clock, with the New York Election news, came from South Amboy to Camden, a distance of sixty-four miles, in one hour and fifty minutes, including three stoppages of about fifteen minutes."

From Trinidad de Cuba.—By the arrival last evening of the brig Hector, in twenty-six days from Trinidad de Cuba, we learn by Capt. White that the coffee and sugar crops had suffered severely from the late hurricanes of Oct. 5th. A Philadelphia schooner, named not recollected, Haven, master, from Manzanilla, bound to Trinidad, went ashore the same date, six miles to leeward of the port. All hands perished except the chief officer; he was picked up by a small Spanish schooner, and put in care of the American Consul.

Death of Chief Justice Buchanan.

We regret to find in the Hagerstown Torchlight of yesterday, the following painful announcement of the death of one of the most eminent jurists in Maryland.

DEATH OF CHIEF JUSTICE BUCHANAN.

—It is with feelings of the most profound sorrow that we announce the death of his Honor John Buchanan, Chief Justice of the State of Maryland, in the 71st year of his age. He expired at Woodland, his late residence, yesterday, at 11 o'clock, after an illness of about four weeks. Judge Buchanan was appointed Associate Justice of this Judicial District in 1806, and in 1825 took his seat as Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, from which time to the present, he has presided in such a manner as to have conferred upon himself the reputation of one of the ablest Jurists in the country. During this period, notwithstanding his precarious health, he has labored with indefatigable perseverance in his vocation, and has bequeathed to his State a series of decisions, which will always be looked upon as one of her proudest monuments, and from which her sons so long as she exists, will continue to reap the wholesome and vivifying fruits. Deeply do we deplore his decease, and most deeply do we sympathize with his bereaved family in the loss which not only they, but the public, have sustained.

For the Journal.

Mr. Editor;—Subjoined I hand you a Temperance song, written by a friend for the Washington Temperance Society of Wilmington. I hope he will excuse the liberty I have taken in requesting its publication. In doing so, I am prompted by a hope that some good to the cause of Temperance may result therefrom. Indeed something should be done to awaken the community to a sense of their danger! Now the excitement of the election is over, I hope the sober part of the community will frown down the propensity for dissipation, which too many of our young men are imbibing.

A SONG.

Written for the Washington Temperance Society of Wilmington.

AIR—"Burns' Farewell."

Touch not the bowl! there's death within,
Thou' tempting now the draught appears—
The germ of soul corroding sin,
'Twill be thy bane in after years.

What tho' the wine be ruby bright!
And sparkling bills thee come and sip,
'Twill leave upon thy soul a blight,
If e'er the chalice touch thy lip.

Dash from thy grasp the goblet, then,
And spurn it with a strong man's hate,
Let reason's voice be heard again,
With love and peace commensurate.

No more the wail of woe shall ring
In this fair land of Freedom's birth,
Sweet Temperance, on angel wing,
Her pledge of Love, and Truth, sends forth.

Now Hearts that long in anguish pined,
With Hope's bright gleam once more are cheer'd;
Sighs and regrets are cast behind,
And future joys in faith are rear'd.

To Him alone who reigns above,
Lift up your praise in accents sweet,
As incense for redeeming love,
Ascending to the mercy seat.

New Arrangement.

We were informed last evening, that the indefatigable proprietors of the Savannah and Charleston steamboats have succeeded in getting the mail contract between this city and Charleston, and that they will commence with their daily line on Saturday next. This will be not only good news to our own citizens, but to those who reside West and South-west of Savannah, for by this arrangement they will get intelligence from the North twelve to twenty-four hours earlier than by the present arrangement.—See Georgian.

LOST from the subscriber, on the 1st inst., a negro man, named BILL, 26 years of age, about 5 feet 4 or 6 inches high, dark complexion, has an impediment in his speech, and a downward look when spoken to.

The said negro had on, when he left, a homespun suit, (a round-about and pants), and cap, and other clothes with him.

It is thought he will attempt to pass as a free-man, under an assumed name, as William Hays, or Simmons. He is known to visit his old haunts in the neighborhood of his wife, who is owned by Mr. Jos. Dunn, Duplin Co., and he no doubt ranges at times in the southern part of Wayne county, where he is, or has been, at work.

To those that have Beef Cattle

To the Defenders of New Orleans.

A POEM, BY JOSEPH HODMAN DRAKE.
Author of the "Culprit Foy," now first published in the New Mirror.

Hail, sons of generous valor,
Who now embattled stand,
To wield the brand of strife and blood,
For Freedom and the land.
And hail! to him, your laurel'd chief,
Around whose trophies name
A Nation's gratitude has twined
A wreath of endless fame.

Now, round the gallant leader
Your iron phalanx form;
And throw, like ocean's barrier rocks,
Your bosoms to the storm.
Tho' wild as ocean's wave it rolls,
Its fury shall be low;
For justice guides the warrior steel,
And vengeance strikes the blow.

High o'er the gleaming columns,
The banner'd star appears,
And proud amid the martial band,
His crest the eagle rears;
And, long as patriot valor's arm
Shall win the battle's prize,
That star shall beam triumphantly,
That eagle seek the skies.

Then on, ye daring spirits!
To danger's tumults now;
The bowl is filled, and wreath'd the crown,
To grace the victor's brow;
And they who for their country die,
Shall fill an honored grave;
For glory lights the soldier's tomb,
And beauty weeps the brave.

The Motherless.

The following is one of the most touchingly beautiful things we ever read. No one can doubt that this is the language of a husband and a father, with a spirit stricken by the loss of one fondly loved as a wife, and as the mother of his precious ones:—[N. O. Pic.]

You're weary, precious ones! your eyes
Are wandering far and wide;
Think ye of her who knew so well
Your tender thoughts to guide;—
Who could to wisdom's sacred lore
Your fixed attention claim!
Ah! never from your hearts erase
That blessed mother's name.

'Tis time to say your evening hymn
My youngest infant dove!
Come, press thy velvet cheek to mine,
And learn the love of love.
My sheltering arms can clasp you all,
My poor deserted throng!
Cling as you used to cling to her
Who sings the angel song.

Begin, sweet birds, 't accustom'd strain—
Come, warble loud and clear;—
Alas! alas! you're weeping all—
You're sobbing in my ear.
Good night!—Go say the prayers she taught
Beside your little bed;
The lips that used to bless you there
Are silent with the dead!

A father's hand your course may guide
Amid the thorns of life;
His care protect those shrinking plants
That dread the storm of strife;
But who upon your infant hearts
Shall like that mother write!
Who touched the strings that rule the soul!
Dear smitten flock, Good night!

Trade in New York.—The New York Express remarks that the foreign news by the last steamer, has had no effect upon that market, and adds:

"The stock of Cotton here is so small, that no prices from abroad affect the article now. The Fall trade, for the sale of goods to the interior, is rapidly drawing to a close. Most of our Western merchants have left the city. Their purchases have not been as large as usual. There has been a cautious business done, and it is believed perfectly sound. The stock of goods on hand have been large, and much larger than required. There will be a heavy loss on British goods, generally, this season. The navigation of the Canal will continue but about a month longer. The transportation of goods both ways is most active. Our receipts of Produce are truly immense."

The Tobacco Crop in Missouri.
A gentleman familiar with the subject, has been travelling up the Missouri river. He informs us that he saw and conversed with a number of planters, and had means of gaining correct intelligence of the prospect of the coming crop, in the counties of Boone, Howard, Chariton, Randolph, Macon, Callaway, Montgomery, Warren, and St. Charles. In these counties our informant states that the crop will be nearly equal in quantity, and greatly excel in quality that of any former year. Our informant states that since his return he has had opportunities of conversing with planters, and received accounts from most of the other tobacco growing counties, all of which concur in the above statement. It is now pretty certain that the quantity in the State will about equal—probably from the increase of growers—if not exceed that of any former year, and of fair complexion and better adapted to manufacturing than any previous crop. St. Louis is one of the best tobacco markets in the west, and well deserving the attention of manufacturers and shippers.

BLANK WARRANTS—for sale at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WILMINGTON JOURNAL.

DAVID FULTON, Editor.

Our Country, Liberty, and God.

ALFRED L. PRIOR, Printer.

TERMS.—$2 50 if paid in advance; $3 00 at the end of three months; $3 50 at the expiration of the year.—No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid, except at the option of the publishers.

Having been induced, at the solicitation of some of the members of the Democratic party, to take charge of the Republican Press in this place, we will hereafter, on every Friday morning, issue a Democratic paper, under the above title, at the office of the late "Wilmington Messenger," in the Town of Wilmington.

As we have given a brief outline of the principles the "Journal" will advocate in our first number, we think it unnecessary again to reiterate the political doctrines it will be our constant and earnest endeavor to inculcate. On the present occasion, therefore, we will merely state, that the "Journal" will be the uncompromising opponent of each and every "link" in the whole of the "great chain" of Whig measures—a United States Bank—a Protective Tariff—the Bankrupt Act—Internal Improvements by the General Government, &c., &c.—While on the other hand it will, so far as our humble abilities will enable us, be the firm friend and supporter of the Constitution as it was left us by our fathers; and of a strict construction of that Constitution, thereby ensuring the rights of the several States which compose the Confederacy. But we set out with the idea of not going into details.

It would be a needless tax upon the reader's time. Suffice it to say, that the "Journal" will be a DEMOCRATIC PAPER, and will always advocate Democratic men and Democratic measures.

Although the "Journal" will be a political paper, yet, in order that it may also be agreeable to the general reader, its columns will always be open to such items of intelligence as will be interesting to the Farmer, the Merchant, the Mechanic, &c. Agriculture, Trade, the state of the Markets, &c., together with a slight glance at polite literature occasionally, will receive our attention.

We hope we will not be considered too "personal in our remarks" when we offer a few suggestions to our friends, touching the necessity there exists for keeping on foot a Democratic Press in the Town of Wilmington.

In the first place, Wilmington is a place of the greatest commercial importance of any in the State: it is situated in a Democratic District: there is a great deal of intercourse carried on by the citizens of the lower portion of the State with this place, and consequently a Press here would be calculated to do as much good, in diffusing information, as perhaps at any other point in the State. Again, there are, we believe, three Federal to every one Democratic paper in the State, and this we feel confident; is the reason why North Carolina placed a Whig in her gubernatorial Chair at our recent election: for we feel assured that it only requires a fair comparison to be instituted between the policy of the Federal and Democratic parties to ensure for the latter the most triumphant success. Well now, it is impossible for a Press to be kept up unless our friends will patronize it by subscribing themselves and inducing others to "go and do likewise." For, gentle reader, we suppose you are aware, and if you are not, we will tell you, that Printers and Editors are so far like other mortals that it requires something more than air to feed and kind wishes to clothe them. Therefore, we hope that every Democrat into whose hands this Prospectus may fall, will do all he can to insure the success of the "Journal" and the cause of Democracy.

WILMINGTON, N. C., September 21st, 1844.

NOTE.—It being out of our power to send a copy of our Prospectus to every person who might doubtless be disposed to exert himself to procure subscribers to the "JOURNAL," we have printed the Prospectus in our paper as it appears above, with the hope that our friends will cut it out and attach the same to a sheet of paper, and procure as many subscribers as they can conveniently, and send their names to us as early a day as possible.

Notice.

THE subscriber has returned from the North with a large and carefully selected stock of Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Glassware, Shop Furniture, Surgical Instruments, Perfumery, &c., &c.,

As the greater part of the above has been purchased for cash, he is determined no other house in the State shall UNDERSELL HIM. Therefore, Physicians will do well to give him a trial before purchasing elsewhere.

He has now facilities for putting up and packing in a style equal to that done at the North. He would take this opportunity of returning thanks to the Physicians and the public generally for their liberal patronage since his commencement in business, and begs to assure them that nothing shall be wanting on his part to merit a continuance of their favors.

All orders from the country promptly attended to.

In fact, whatever offer is made, by any other Family Journal, at all approaching in worth, beauty, or pretensions, to the Saturday Courier, will be furnished by a triump.

The Courier has become so well and favorably known through a triumphal popular course of fourteen years, that it would be superfluous to say much on that subject here. We may remark, however, that to the industry, talent, and enterprise, which have for years kept this paper a bright exemplar for all its imitators, will continually be added the productions of every available writer, and continued judicious and liberal expenditures will continually be made, as well in the Literary as the Typographical departments. Our means will always enable us to be in advance of all others, and we shall be so.

HISTORIES OF MODERN REPUBLICS.—A new and important announcement for the coming year, in addition to our already numerous popular features, will be a series of Condensed Histories of Modern Republics, by a fresh and vigorous writer, who will impart a world of important instruction to the rising generation, in this new and entertaining Romance of History.

POPULAR TOPOGRAPHY.—To gratify the growing appetite for a better knowledge of the important features of our great and glorious country, our past exertions shall be redoubled in future to present vivid pictures of American cities, towns, mountains, lakes, rivers, castles, scenery, &c. &c.

OUR ORATORICAL DEBATES, ESSAYS, POEMS, &c., will continue regularly to be furnished by the best minds and pens in the country.—These choice productions are acknowledged to be the best for useful instruction at the family fireside, that appear in any periodical.

PROSPECTUS OF THE "DISTRICT DEMOCRAT."

(OXFORD, NORTH CAROLINA.)

THE Undersigned propose to publish in the Town of Oxford, Granville County, North Carolina, a paper to be entitled the "DISTRICT DEMOCRAT," devoted to Politics, Agriculture, and General Intelligence, provided a sufficient number of subscribers can be obtained to justify them in the undertaking. They deem it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of their political tenets, but think it will suffice to say, that they are opposed to the political measures of the miscalled Whig Party; believing them to be subversive of our Constitution, dangerous to our civil liberty, injurious to the welfare of our country, and our peace and prosperity as a nation. With such belief, we will oppose by every fair and honorable means, the election of Henry Clay of Kentucky, to the Presidential Chair, as he is the head and leader of that party, and has pledged himself to procure the ruinous measures, and dangerous political experiments of the same. Moreover, having openly pledged himself to tamper with the Constitution, under which we have lived so long and so prosperously, and to destroy or mutilate that power (the Veto) which is now and was created for its safeguard, we cannot keep from viewing, as must every other true Democrat, his elevation to that seat, which he is now, and has been seeking for so many years, by every means in his power, as an era in the political history of our government, that must be regarded, for the consequences that must ensue. Such being our opinions with regard to Mr. Clay's political character, we shall hasten at the head of our columns for President and Vice President of the United States, the nominees of the Democratic National Convention, James K. Polk of Tennessee, and George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania; and shall use every fair and honorable means to ensure their election. To do this, we earnestly solicit at the hands of the Democrats of the 7th Congressional District, a reasonable and competent support; being more numerous they are better able to support a press than the opposite party; and yet in the District where the Democracy have a majority, the Whigs support 3 newspapers, and they have not a single one with the exception of one small sheet.

Taking these things into consideration, we humbly submit, whether justice to themselves, the cause and principles they profess, and a regard for the credit of the District to which they belong, does not demand at their hands some local vehicle of information on political subjects.
